INTEGRATING DANCE/MOVEMENT
INTO THE K-12
CURRICULUM

JUNE 10-14, 2019 9 A.M. – 4:30 P.M.

Join leading Dance Movement Educators & Education Specialists from Colorado State University and the region to explore how we can bring more movement into our K–12 classrooms!

Presented by the School of Music, Theatre, and Dance and the College of Liberal Arts at the University Center for the Arts, Fort Collins, Colorado

Guest Presenter Terry Goetz is Director of the Creative Dance Center in Seattle, Washington. Terry began training intensively with CDC Founder Anne Green Gilbert in 1997 and joined the faculty in 2000. Terry presents workshops nationally, and internationally, training dance teachers, early childhood specialists, educators, and teaching artists in BrainDance and Brain-Compatible Dance Education. She has presented extensively, both in the US and abroad and has worked with state boards of education, developing and reviewing K-12 Dance Standards.

Additional presenters will include arts educators from CSU and across Colorado as well as education and integrated arts specialists focused on bringing movement in the classroom.

CSU faculty presenters: Dr. Patrick Fahey in Arts Education, Dr. Patricia Vigil, CSU Alliance Partnership; Lisa Morgan, Judy Bejarano and Amber Mazurana with CSU Dance. In addition, we are excited to have returning guest presenters Pamela Barker, Social and Emotional Learning specialist, Louis Baldwin, 4th grader teacher and movement integration specialist in Denver schools and more!
